Age To The Pum. e.—From the lat day of July, 1851, the postage on the Daily American Telegraph, Washington city, D. C., will be, per quarter in advance, as follows—Fifty miles or under, 25 cents; over fifty and not over three hundred, 50 cents; over three hundred and not exceeding one thousand, 75 cents, &c. Any person wishing to be served for three months after the above date need only pay his quarter's postage, and send us a gold dollar and a silver quarter in a small letter—postage paid, of course; or five dollars for a year. The Telegraph is independent in politics, polite, moral, agreeable, and familiar, prompt in furnishing the news, and a terror to all evil doors.

THE ALLEGED GRIEVANCES OF SOUTH CARO LINA .- The essay on this subject, from the pen of Chief Justice CRANCH, (and which appeared originally in the New York Express.) is so clear. intelligent, and instructive, that we feel conof his eighty-second year," and has of late suffered much from bodily infirmities; yet it judgment are unfailing.

FOURTH OF JULY.-We understand that the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of the State of Pennsylvania have resolved to visit Washington, in full regalia, on the 4th of July, and to bring with them the beautiful stone they have prepared as their offering to the Monument of Washington.

. We also learn that the Grand Division of the District have resolved to meet their brethren. in full regalia, and escort them from the depot to Monument Place, where they will meet the Monumental Association, and where the ceremony of presentation will take place.

A correspondent, in communicating to us this announcement, says:

"The day and the occasion will be appropriate for a temperance demonstration. Many Sons from neighboring Divisions in Maryland and Virginia will no doubt unite, and swell the ranks of the order. We can conceive of no more fitting manner in which to celebrate this glorious day-consecrated through the length and breadth of our favored land to liberty-no more appropriate way of honoring the memory of Washington. Temperance religion and six of Washington. Temperance, religion, and vir-tue are the pillars of our Republic. Pull them down and all rational freedom will be crushed

Will the citizens and authorities of Washington take part in the ceremonies? or will they desecrate the day by devoting it to drunkenness and folly, as too many, alas, have been accustomed to do? We shall see."

We hope whatever arrangements shall be entered into, may be made with reference to the grand ceremonies already suggested relative to the corner-stone of the Capitol.

STEAM POWER ON CANALS .- The New York Tribune of yesterday says: "The object so long sought has at length been found, and its applicability practically demonstrated. At the foot of Hubert street there is now moored a small steamboat, which, though not very inviting in its appearance, combines all the requirement for canal motive power, and the evidence of her ability to do the necessary labor is furnished by the three heavy-laden barges which are beside her, and which she has towed from Norfolk, Va., up the Potomac river to the Cumberland mines, and thence through the Alexandria canal, the Chesapeake and Delaware canal, up the Delaware river and through the Delaware and Raritan canal to New York, a distance of nearly five hundred miles, and in a few days she will continue her voyage to Albany. She is a small boat of about one hundred tons burden, and has two engines, rated at fifteen horse power each. "The wheels are bent into the segment of a circle, and they enter and leave the water without creating the great motion caused by the ordinary paddles. Should, however, the smoothed down and pacified by th float that follows the wheel. This float can be raised or lowered as circumstances may require. The owners of this boat assert that they can take a train of freight boats, loaded with eight hundred tons of coal, from the Cumberland mines to tide-water, at a speed of four miles per hour, at one quarter the price at which the work can be done by horse-power; and the boats can be passed through the locks without detaching them, and in less time than is required by the same number of boats propelled separately. The boat is called the "Virginia." She was built after the plan patented by G. Parker, esq., of Massachusetts, and is owned by Messrs. N. S. Denny & Co., of Boston, who, we understand, are constructing another boat at Albany to be used on the Erie canal."

THE PROPOSED FAIR.

To the Editors of the American Telegraph. GENTLEMEN: I was not at the meeting last night, but I commend its objects and the proceedings there had in furtherance of them. I hope the press of this city will take up the subject, and arouse the public attention to it; and the next meeting will be more numerously attended. I think the pre-announcement was too brief, and rather feebly made. I do not mean that the gentlemen concerned did not do their best; but all are aware how long a time it requires to excite the public mind even on the best of subjects. Let the press of the city do its duty, and the project will be successful.

Yours, A CITIZEN.

Ours is but an humble representative of the press of the city; but it shall do all that in it lies to promote the desired end. An ANNUAL FAIR can be held in this city, and such a one as cannot fail to prove of great national utility. We trust that our worthy Mayor and the genmay crown their efforts.

THE COURT-MARTIAL to be held in this city on the 23d instant, in Gen. Talcott's case, is to be composed of brevet Majors General Twiggs, Wool, Smith, Riley, and Gibson, and brevet Brigadiers General Walbach, Churchill, Totten, Clarke, and Childs; Cols. Abert and Crane, and brevet Col. Plymton. Major Lee will be Judge vitation to become the pastor of the Presbyte-

FOR CONGRESS .- The Whigs of the Norfolk (Va.) District have nominated Robt. H. Whitefield, esq., as their candidate for Congress. Gen. Millson will be run by the Democrats.

To the Editors of the American Telegraph. GENTLEMEN: If you wish to add subscribers to your paper, and render it still more popular—if you wish to discharge your full duty, (which I have no doubt you do,) advise some remedy by which the people of Washington may be protected against the abminable insolence of the free negroes. It is a universal complaint. The writer of this has seen ladies compelled to walk almost off the sidewalk for them; and this ladies, and but seldom to gentlemen, u fact is notorious, that they never give way for they happen to have a big stick with them. The evil is growing worse and worse every day. If you could, by calling attention to this sub-ject, correct the evil, you will be looked on as a public benefactor, and richly deserve the thanks and patronage of your fellow-citizens.

We carry a "big stick," and therefore do not experience the evils complained of by CORA; and if (as we doubt not) she is young and pretty, it will give us great pleasure to walk with and protect her from the too great freedom of free negroes of all colors. We think, however, that the enforcement of an existing strained to give place to it in the columns of statute respecting persons of all kinds who do not our paper. Judge C. "is just upon the evening pursue a useful occupation, and who have no visible means of support, would effect the desired object. Honest and industrious people, will be perceived that his calm mind and clear whether white or black, are seldom offensive in their demeanor toward others. It was a mistake in our authorities not to enforce every possible regulation for the public security when the drainage of a neighboring county took place. We have more idle and vicious colored people here now than we had but a few years ago, and it is necessary that a vigilant care be taken of them by the police, and by such of our citizens as are willing to devote themselves to their improvement. They love display, ease, and luxury, and perhaps have few inducements to endeavor to win our good opinion and encouragement. Cannot some of our citizens take this subject under their special consideration? The field is one in which much good can be done to people of all complexions. There are enough of the bet-

> A HORRID DEATH .- Michael McGovern, native of Ireland, thirty-six years of age, died from the effects of a quantity of brandy which he drank on a wager at New York. From the evidence adduced before the Coroner, it appeared that deceased left his house for a grogshop kept by a man named Mellville, at No. 97 Eleventh street, on Monday night; that while there he made a bet with one Owen Fox, that he could drink a quart of liquor without stopping to take breath-Fox agreeing to pay for the liquor if he succeeded in drinking it. A quart of brandy was then furnished the deceased by Hugh Hannovan, the bar-tender, and he at once drank it off, and a moment after offered to drink another pint if Fox would pay for it; he agreed to do so; it was furnished and he drank it off, and then went home. His wife testified that he came in the house very much intoxicated, went to bed, and was dead at four o'clock on Tuesday morning. Fox and Hannovan were arrested and committed to prison by the coroner, to await the action of the grand jury.

can be done in the way of elevating and improving the rest. Let the effort be made.

PHILADELPHIA TRIUMPHANT .- The Sun says 'It gives us great pleasure to inform our readers that Thomas U. Walter, esq., of this city, has been appointed the architect to superintend the enlargement of the Capitol. He received his appointment on Tuesday. The extension will consist of wings, and will be a modification of his original plan. After the careful and patient consideration of the subject by the President and others, and the efforts made by many to obtain it, we consider it no small compliment to our city that he was appointed. Mr. Walter, as an architect, stands foremost in his profession-a fact to which the beauty and stability of the many public and power required cause any swell, the raging private buildings erected by him in the city and suburbs bear abundant testimony."

Kosciusko Case in Chancery .-- Yesterday at three o'clock, p. m., Richard S. Coxe, esq., closed the argument for the sureties of Bomford, the deceased administrator de bonis non of the estate.

This morning at eleven o'clock, the Hon. Reverdy Johnson commenced to address the court, and will close the argument for the heirs of Kosciusko. He is speaking at the time our paper goes to press-the court-room is unusually crowded, and there are many distinguished ladies present. We understand that Mr. Johnson will close his argument to-morrow. But it may be that a part of Monday next will be taken up before he closes. The argument on all sides is eloquent, clear and interesting.

A CHILD'S FUNERAL .- The sudden death of a lovely little daughter of the Reverend William B. Edwards is noted in the correspondence of the Baltimore Sun of this morning. Her funeral will take place on Sunday, and will be attended by the Sabbath school of which she was a member, and we doubt not by very many of the sympathizing friends of the bereaved family.

MICHAEL McMARRY, an Irish laborer, fell from a scaffold in the rear of the National Hotel this morning, and was so severely injured that little hope is entertained of his recovery. His head and face are much injured, and one leg broken. He was taken to the Infirmary, where every attention and the best surgical skill are devoted to him. The Rev. Mr. Slatterly, of the Roman Catholic Church, is also at his side.

THE STREETS. - We have received several communications, in which the writers would urge to greater vigilance those having authortlemen associated with him may persevere in ity to cleanse and drain our streets and avetheir honorable undertaking, and that success nues. Whether or not the most is being done that the means at the disposal of the sanatory officers will enable them to do, we are not informed; but we have every confidence in their desire to prosecute their good work to the utter-

Police.-A gentleman by the name of Mr. James Robertson appeared this morning before 'Squire Morsell, we think upon a Corporation warrant, charging him with a want of industry, or with improvidence, or something of that kind, upon the complaint of some of the persons hav-ing control of the National Hotel, where Mr. R. is a frequent if not a welcome visiter. He is to have a further hearing. He is known as the editor of "The Truth," and the author of various productions, indicating genius of a peculiar and unique order. We have observed, also, that he is on terms of familiar and friendly relations with many of the more prominent politicians and statesmen of the Union. We trust that if there are any persons who are not pleased with his habits and practices, and who think he should be employed, they will have the kindness to provide it for him. Is this any thing more

MR. TAYLOR AND HIS MONEY.-Jim Johnson. smart yellow boy, from Baltimore, aged fourteen or fifteen, found about $300 carly yesterday morning, and bought a new suit of clothes, a banjer, a pair of pistols, &c., and took a ride, and treated right liberally Sam Taylor, Wm. Uncles, Sam Richardson, Ned Taylor, and Joe Peach, all young gentlemen of color, who work at Mr. Lambell's brick-yard. He also deposited some money with Mrs. Lucretia Garner, a lady of color, who keeps a boarding-house for juvenile brick-makers, somewhere toward the navy yard-eleven dollars, she says; but as he maintains, $230. Captain Goddard is sifting the affair, and will probably know more about it before all is over.

EXTENSION OF ELECTIONS .- We have never een a published official report of the late popular vote upon this subject. We are in favor of the measure, and would like to know how it stands before the community.

GAS-LIGHT .- The statement of the Washington Gas Company merits the attentive perusal of the public.

A New Ism .- Haynauism is the name given by the police reporter for the Richmond Republican to woman-whipping. It is not an inappropriate name. A fellow by the name of Clarke has been guilty of it. Let him suffer.

THE NEW COSTUME FOR LADIES .- The New York Tribune of yesterday contains three columns of brief commendatory notices from various newspapers throughout the country.

OH FIE!-Thurlow Weed, editor of the Albany Tournal, in speaking of the New York Express, says: "There are few political 'mountebanks' who 'turn somersets,' go through with the sports of the ring,' or even dance for pennies, at Fulton market, with more alacrity than the New York Express. Nor are there many 'dirtier

JENNY LIND'S OWN CONCERT .- The fair Swede has certainly taken the tide of popular feeling at its flood—it had already begun to ebb—and from present appearances it will lead on to any imaginable fortune. The demand for tickets for her first concert, since her dissolution with Mr. Barnum, was very great, and before three o'clock in the afternoon every ticket had been sold at three dollars, and the sale had to be stopped. It was fortunate that it was stopped at that time, for we never before saw so many people packed into the Musical Fund Hall. At half-past six o'clock the doors were opened, and in a very short time every inch of room was occupied, and the audience sat for more than an hour, awaiting with wonderful patience the opening of the performance. It was the hottest night of the season; and though every window was open, affording to the outsiders on the roofs fine seeing as well as hearing, there were very decided signs of the height of the thernometer among the audience.

Jenny Lind appeared. Such a long-continued and hearty greeting was never before given her in Philadelphia, and we thought the audience would never cease their signs of welcome and congratulation, and suffer her to resume her usual erect and statue-like posture. At last quiet was restored, and the grand solo from Mozart's Don Giovanni was sung in her usua indescribable manuer, without any interpolations of ornament, to embellish the clear, sta-tuesque beauty of the composition. Her next We need not speak of the wonderful beauty of this performance; of the extraordinary orna ments introduced on the repetition of Ah, non giunge; of the exquisite trilling, nor of the ex-traordinary case with which she concluded it, on a long, clear, well-sustained note at the very top of her voice-how high, we are afraid ever to guess. It was encored, and repeated with the same ease and beauty.

In the second part, M'lle Lind, with her worthy associates, Salvi and Belletti, sang the trio from the Barber of Seville as it has never pefore been heard in Philadelphia. Then she gave us the Gipsey's Song, from Meyerbeer's mysterious opera, the "Camp of Silesia," which has been tantalizingly promised to the European public for years, but of which Americans have heard only the flute trio and this charming little Gipsey's Song. As she sung it, it was quite as great a marvel of execution as the flute trio and the Bird Song, and the audience would not be satisfied without a repetition of it. "Home, Sweet Home" and "Comin' thro' the Rye" concluded the concert, each one creating tremendous enthusiasm and being rapturously encored. "Comin' thro' the Rye" is the best of her ballads in our language, according to our humble judgment. The embellishments she es are not out of place, and her manner of singing it irresistibly captivating. We have left ourselves little room to speak of the other performers. Salvi and Belletti were both in capital voice and were almost as warmly greeted as Jenny Lind. Belletti substituted for Rossini's Tarentella the barcarole from the Prison of Edinburgh, which did not have its wonted effect, because both singer and auditors were almost overcome by the heat. Mr. Haase played a solo on the horn extremely well, but the audience were too warm to be enthusiastic except for Jenny Lind.

The effects of the heat were particularly severe among the orchestra, and on the crowd on the platform behind them. Stringed instruments were constantly getting out of tune, and there was a continual little volley of explosions caused by the breaking of strings which had been unusually stretched to keep them in tune. Poor Burke commenced the solo set down for him, with commendable courage. But the heat was too much for him and his instrument. The fiddle would not keep in tune, and at last s string broke, when in despair he made a graceful apology to the audience, and in spite of hearty encouragement to try again, retired.

To-morrow evening M'lle Lind announces her last Concert in Philadelphia. The Musical Fund
Hall will not hold one half that will seek admission .- Phil. Eve. Bulletin of yesterday.

Office of the Washington Gas Company,

A T A MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS A held this day, it was deemed expedient, in view of my misapprehension existing in the public mind, to make the following official statement:

any misapprehension existing in the public mind, to make the following official statement:

To meet the largely increasing demand for Illuminating Gas, and to furnish a light of equal brilliancy and gower at a greatly reduced rate of cost, the company havenered into a contract with the well-known and responsible firm of Battin, Dungan & Co., of Philadelphia, for the crection of entire new works, additional to the present, for the production of a very superior Gas, from bituminous coal, which Gas, when the new works are completed, in January next, will be conveyed, with metandure the feet of service pipe, from the main by the soutractors, and at their expense, and afforded to the consumer at the low rate of $4.00 per thousand feet. Street mains are to be laid, of ample dimensions and skillfu workmanship, in every portion of the city where a demans for Gas exists. In short, our object and desire is to erect works creditable to the city; to place this whole busines on the most satisfactory basis; and, by carrying the light to the greatest possible number, make it the interest of ill to use it, because it will be cheaper than any other light; and we shall thus confer a public benefit, and best subserve the interests of the company.

For a site for such works a lose position, near water.

subserve the interests of the company.

For a site for such works a lose position, near water communication, is indispensable; and some time since six iots, in square C, extending from Maine to Maryland avenues, were purchased, and the new works have been commenced. As prejudices are known to exist against galactories, from the objections experienced in manufacturing from oil, rosin, and grease, the directors are happy to assure the public, and to demonstrate the fact, by indistinguished the statement of the commany oommit any nuisance it can and must be abated; and yet they stake on the result, in this same square, and appenditure of one hundred thousand dollars. The propagate such indeed, that it is hardly nossible that any expenditure of one hundred thousand dollars. The pro-ress is such, indeed, that it is hardly possible that any auisance should be engendered. The Gas is made from ses is such, indeed, that it is hardly possible that any auisance should be engendered. The Gas is made from he best bituminous coal, and passes from the retorics, without exposure, through the cooling and washing processes not purifying boxes of lime, and becomes entirely ino dorous, and so pure that it is incapable of soiling the most delicate white surface. Nor is there any other substance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, simple or compound, used within or around the stance, specific or carry off smoke, except during the very few minutes required in supplying the retorts with soal; for, with this inconsiderable exception, there is cally no smoke about the works. When the Gas is avoived from the coal in the retorts, the coal is deprived its blumen, sulphur, and other extranceus or volatile matter, and the residuum is carbon, or coke, which in turn supplies the only fuel used in the furnaces.

Certainly no nuisance need be created by works of this lescription; nor has a complaint been urged against any of the factories built by these experienced and successful contractors in the cities of Hartford, New Haven, it constructors in the cities of Hartford, New Haven, it constructors in the side of Hartford, New Haven, tochaster, Albany, Syracuse, Newark, Faterson, Reading, and Charleston, as proved by the strongest testimony, and by the rapid rise of property in the immediate vicinity of those works, in every instance. From the mass of evidence before them, the Board have selected for publication but three, to prove how unfounded are the apprehensions of persons who fear an injury will be done to the health and comfort of the neighborhood, and a decrease effected in the value of private property in the vicinity. The first is fro ast from Professor Silliman, perhaps the most so authority in the Union. "My residence is next door to the Gas Works, and I hav "My residence is next door to the Gut Workz, and I have experienced, as yet, [the works had been in operation two years,] no annoyance from its proximity, either from the smell of the gaz, or from any noise made during the night in conducting their operations. At the same time, I can state that, owing to the great care used in fitting up the pipes in the houses, and testing their tightness by means of hydraulic pressure, no escape of gas takes place to the annoyance of the occupants. The whole plan and great success of these works reflect credit on the skill and assiduous attention of Meers. Battin & Dungan.

"Charleston, January 3, 1850."

"CHARLESTON, January 3, 1850."

"I see by your papers that a Gas Company has been at last organized at Hartford, and that Messrs. Dungan, Battin & Co. are to erect the works. Our people are all delighted with the result of their experiment here. The Company had some considerable difficulty in obtaining a site for their works, on the ground that the manufacturing would prove a unisance to the neighborhood where it should be located. How well founded this was, may be judged from the fact that land opposite the works, which before their crection was aftered for ten dollars a front fool, is now held at fifteen," &c.

"Naw Havan, Connecticut."

"The Gas Works at New Haven have now been in suc cessful operation for over a year, and I feel authorized—from my intimate knowledge of all the details of their construction, which, from the first outlines of a charter to this time, have been perfectly familiar to me, and I may add, gratified—to affirm my great satisfaction both in the success of our experiment, and in the skill, fidelity, and efficient zeal of the contractors, Messrs. Battin, Dungan & Co.

B. SILLIMAN, jr."

It is the intention of the company and the contractors to erect model Gas Works here, so perfect in the internal arrangements, inviting to the exterior view, and appropriate in every particular to accomplish the objects desired, as to be an ornament and a benefit, rather than a nuisance and an injury, to our prosperous city. In this laudable endeavor no time or money will be spared, and we confidently ask the encouragement of all who are interested in the improvement of the metropolis in our effort to furnish every person who may desire it a cheap, brilliant, inodorous, and unfailing light, thus benefitting all and injuring none.
